

Yasuyuki Motoyama

254 Mather St.
Oakland, CA 94611

TEL: (510) 548-4306
motoyama@berkeley.edu

Education:

University of California at Berkeley, CA Sept 99-

PhD in City and Regional Planning, expected completion early Spring 2006

Dissertation: "Geographical Concentration of New Product Development"

A study of how the nature of innovation leads to geographical concentration of firms

Using case studies of product development by Sony, Canon, and Toyota

Cornell University, NY May 97

Master of Public Administration

Concentration: Statistical Analysis, Development Economics

Thesis: Panel Regression Analysis on Foreign Aid

University of Wisconsin - Madison, WI May 95

Bachelor of Arts in Triple Majors: History, International Relations, Political Science

Publications:

Motoyama, Yasuyuki and Tetsutaro Okada. 2005. Size of Local Government and Administrative Capacity (in Japanese). Quarterly Review of Public Administration (gyosei kanri kiko). Mar. no.109.

Motoyama, Yasuyuki. 2003. Roles of High-Tech Immigrants in Silicon Valley: Implications to Japanese Policy. Will Japan Become a Multi-Ethnic Society?: Immigration Policy and National Identity in Japan, Germany, France and US. Conference Proceedings (invitation only). Sponsored by Asia Foundation and Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung. Nov. Tokyo.

Saxenian, AnnaLee, Yasuyuki Motoyama, and Xiaohong Quan. 2002. Local and Global Networks: Immigrant Professionals in Silicon Valley. Public Policy Institute of California. San Francisco.

Nomura Research Institute. 1998. Small Business Innovation Research - Triggering Innovation in Japan (in Japanese). NRI Press, Tokyo, Japan.

Teaching Experiences:

City Planning 112 Political Economy of Planning Fall 05
An introductory course of political economy and economic policy for 100 undergraduate students. Comparatively and internationally analyzed how different nations achieved development and interaction between market and state evolved.

City Planning 204A Introduction to Statistical Analysis Fall 02
An introductory statistics course for graduate students, with an enrollment of 40. Taught data analysis using Census and economic data as well as basic econometrics from means difference test to multi-regressions. Conducted lab sessions, using Excel and SPSS.

City Planning 220 Regional Economic Development Spring 02
A survey of economic development theories with 30 graduate students. Covered concepts include classical Marshallian agglomeration to contemporary clusters. Instructed and advised writing papers and preparing for class presentation.

Awards:

Summer Grant	Graduate Division	Summer 05
CJS Fellowship	Center for Japanese Studies	Fall 01, 03, 04
Dean's Normative Time Fellowship	Graduate Division	Fall 03
Academic Progress Award	Graduate Division	Spring 03
Management of Technology Fellowship	Haas School of Business	Dec. 02
Teitz Fellowship	City and Regional Planning	May 02
Departmental Block Grant	City and Regional Planning	Fall 00, Fall 01
Rotary Scholarship	Rotary Foundation, Evanston, IL	1995-96

Research Assistantships:

Pr Steve Vogel	(Political Science)	Changing Japan's Capitalism	Summer 01-Fall 05
Pr. Robert Cole	(Business)	IT Development and Policy in Japan	Fall 02-Fall 05
Pr. AnnaLee Saxenian	(City Planning)	Transnational Workers in Silicon Valley	Summer-Fall 01
Pr. David Dowall	(City Planning)	California Infrastructure Project	Spring 00
Pr. AnnaLee Saxenian	(City Planning)	Venture Business Environment in Japan	Fall 99
Pr. David Dowall	(City Planning)	Infrastructure Planning in Tokyo	Fall 99

Professional Experiences:

Institute for the Future, Menlo Park (California) Apr 00-Dec 01

Affiliate (Global Innovation Forum)

A project to understand different patterns of use in IT technologies in US, Japan, and Nordic Europe. Qualitatively interviewed households for consumption behavior, and quantitatively analyzed marketing and consumption activities as well as IT business environment.

Nomura Research Institute, Tokyo (Japan) May 97-July 99

Researcher (Industrial Consulting Dept.)

Participated in 25 research projects, of which 70% came from Ministry of Economy and Trade (former MITI). Analyzed policy needs and evaluation for venture business, wholesale industry. Compared policies of US, UK, and Germany, and provided policy recommendations. Conducted quantitative analysis using government and industry association data, surveys.

Intern Experiences:

Public Policy Institute of California, San Francisco	Summer 02
United Nations Development Programme, New York	Summer 96
Climate Institute, Washington DC	Summer 95

Other Activities:

Kinyu-Kai (Chair) Sept 00-Present

A monthly studying group among Japanese graduate students and visiting scholars. Launched the group by recruiting members from business, law, companies, and Japanese Consulate. Appointed and invited speakers, including senior professors. Facilitated 20 participants for discussion.

East Bay Winter League (Captain) Dec 03-March 05

A regional league of Ultimate Frisbee with 200+ participants. Coordinated a team of 14 members from novice to advanced players. Instructed skills and strategies for various levels of players.

Cal Men's Ultimate Fall 99-Fall 03

Ultimate Frisbee varsity team of the university. Achievements include Championship in Santa Barbara Open (Jan. 03), 2nd Place in Stanford Invite (Apr. 03), and 3rd Place in Easterns, NC (Mar. 03). End of the Year National College Ranking was 5th in 2003.

Reference:

Dr. AnnaLee Saxenian (Dissertation Chair)
Dean
School of Information and Management Systems
102 South Hall
Berkeley, CA 94720-4600
(510) 642-9980
anno@sims.berkeley.edu

Dr. David Dowall
Professor
Department of City and Regional Planning
University of California at Berkeley
228 Wuster Hall
Berkeley, CA 94720-1850
dowall@berkeley.edu

Dr. Karen Chapple
Associate Professor
Department of City and Regional Planning
University of California at Berkeley
228 Wuster Hall
Berkeley, CA 94720-1850
chapple@berkeley.edu

Dr. Steven Vogel
Associate Professor
Department of Political Science
210 Barrows Hall
Berkeley, CA 94720-1950
(510) 642-4658
svogel@socrates.berkeley.edu